Dear Friend of WCS

UPDATE

You may be wondering, given the current situation, whether we are singing Rachmaninov's All Night Vigil in Southwark Cathedral this Saturday, March 21 at 1900 (7:00 pm).

The answer is that, at the moment, WE ARE and I would like to draw your attention to the notice currently on our website which reads:

Update 15 March 2020: Important Notice: The Society's executive team is monitoring the current situation regarding COVID-19 on a frequent basis and using the advice from Public Health England and HM Government to determine its next steps. At the time of writing, the rehearsals and concert scheduled for this coming Saturday 21st March are still going ahead. Please check back here on a daily basis this week for any changes to this status.

If you are still planning to attend, don't forget that, as the Concert is arranged by WCS, Friends may reserve seats for themselves and accompanying guests.

This will only happen if you email/phone me to say how many tickets you have & in which part of the church. As ever, there is no guarantee that precise wishes can be granted - but we do our best. Please might I trouble you to confirm that you ARE still planning to attend?

If you feel it advisable NOT to attend and have asked for seat reservations please would you kindly let me know so that we are not holding seats unnecessarily. Thank you.

Stay well and Kind Regards
