Duke Ellington spent most of his life in New York, leading his famous jazz orchestra for over 50 years until his death in 1974. He created one of the most distinctive ensemble sounds in Western music, but referred to his music simply as 'American' rather than jazz.

Widely considered to be one of the finest amateur choirs in London, with a membership of nearly 200 singers, Wimbledon Choral Society is delighted to be returning to Cadogan Hall to perform this glorious work.

Pianist and composer, Roland Perrin, brings his unique combination of classical, jazz and world music to his arrangements of Brazilian Songs of Nature, music originally composed by Brazilian jazz musicians.

With the sublime sound of the Roland Perrin Trio and the Blue Planet Orchestra, this concert promises to be a joyous and uplifting evening.
